

COMMUNICATION In and Out of Disaster

With the RBHC Team

Lack of good communication may lead to mistrust and anxious thoughts and feelings, which can lead to assumptions, pulling away, and misinterpretation. These feelings and actions can further be expressed in depression, anxiety, feelings of unworthiness for both staff and management. This presentation will provide ways in which both management and staff can bring their best selves to the communication process and increase satisfaction, productivity, and a strong sense of community.
